Spirit of resilience guides Class of 2023

They're off to change the world

By Christal Whelan Editor cwhelan@turley.com

SOUTH HADLEY - Family, friends, staff, faculty, and members of the community gathered in Mount Holyoke College's Chapin Auditorium last Friday evening to celebrate South Hadley High School Class of 2023's commencement ceremony.

The 123 young scholars of the Class of 2023 proceeded to their seats to the grand music of Edward Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance." Waving hands, whistles, camera-clicks and shout-outs sounded from random spots in the auditorium as the soon-to-be fledged walked up the center aisle.

Principal Elizabeth Wood requested silence, and for all to face the flag.

South Hadley

Post-Retirement work program proposed

By Ben Hernandez Correspondent

SOUTH HADLEY - The proposed senior volunteer work program is off to a rocky start. The Senior Work-Off program, championed as both a way to utilize retired workers to staff much needed community projects, and as a potential tax write-off for the town, was proposed at the May 2 Select Board meeting with mixed responses.

"I use the word 'volunteer' in air quotes [to describe the program]," said town administrator Lisa Wong, when introducing the idea to the board, "because we essentially have to treat them [prospective candidates] as employees."

Eligibility requirements haven't been ironed out for South Hadley yet, although similar incorporated programs by other towns require applicants to be over sixty years old and allow a maximum of one hundred work hours for program participation. The 'volunteers' are expected to earn up to fifteen hundred dollars for their contributions and are entrusted with less strenuous, though still necessary, positions during their tenure.

South Hadley hasn't currently adopted a senior citizen program, but interest for such a program is on the rise. Wong championed the idea, stating that it would be a welcome addition to the town's work force, as long as "we're following the right labor rules and are doing the right deductions" when filing town taxes.

Others, however, remain ambivalent about the program. "Can't we abate this amount of money," suggested Select Board member Andrea Miles, "without having to have senior citizens shuffled around?" In response, Wong said, "[Without such regulation], we can just say I'm going to abate everybody that lives on an A street.'

She emphasized that such programs were a way to add additional legal deductions to the town's budget while reincorporating new workers into the work force, albeit in limited capacity. The program's detractors, however, remained unconvinced.

"I don't know," chimed in fellow Select Board member Renee Sweeney. "The Senior Work-Off program sounds bad." His comment reflected a sentiment that hung in the air, a concern that the proposal would introduce a workforce that is both poorly defined and potentially exploitative of existing bylaws.

In truth, Work-Off projects are as varied in structure as the communities that they support, meaning that a coherent blueprint exciting opportunity." for South Hadley's own integration doesn't exist. Nevertheless, Wong argued that the potential financial and interactive benefits could not be ignored.

"It is my understanding [that a senior Work-Off project] is a redistribution program," she said. Posting job vacancies in the conventional manner would be charged against the town's general budget, meaning that wages filed this way could cause other existing projects to suffer as a result of funding cuts. However, because of its status as an outreach program, senior Work-Off projects could be filed as a tax write-off, re-compensating some of the losses that such a program might incur.

There were also those overjoyed with the idea. Carol Constant, Select Board vice chair, reflected on her experience with a similar project in Holyoke. She recalling a incident in which two retired maintenance workers became close friends while on tenure at the Wisteria Hurst Museum. The two were hired as part-time employees after their hundred hours of service were completed.

"I can't say enough about it," Constant added enthusiastically when asked for her opinion on the proposal. "I think it's a really

Despite strong polarizing views on the issue, there were some who demanded more evidence. Jeff Cyr, town superintendent and Select Board member, asked his peers if there was any research on other communities that had incorporated similar arrangements.

"I'd be curious to hear what the other issues are in other communities," said a measured Cyr. It would be interesting to know "why they started it and then why they discontinued it."

Cyr also asked for feedback from communities that still had active senior work programs, so that the board could weigh potential benefits and concerns in formulating its own decision. Wong acknowledged that more research was needed and that initial investigations left a lot of room for communities to build their own rules regarding the program's actual structure.

This view didn't sit well with Miles, who argued that such loose organization allowed too much autonomy and echoed Cyr's point of getting a second opinion on the matter.

"There is clearly more research to be done," said Wong. Although talks are ongoing, the program's future remains uncer-

Library hosts author for talk on sleep, dreams and writing

SOUTH HADLEY Gaylord Memorial Library at 47 College Street will host Tzivia Gover, author of "Dreaming on the Page: Tap into Your Midnight Mind with Dreams and Writing," at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, June 30.

Gover is a certified dreamwork professional and the author of several books, including "How to Sleep Tight Through the Night (with Lesléa Newman)" and "The Mindful Way to a Good Night's Sleep.

Learn how to use the science and psychology of sleep, dreams, and mindfulness to supercharge your creativity and wake up to your best life. Gover will talk about how anyone can benefit from the 'Dreaming on the Page' method whether you remember your dreams or not, and whether or not you consider yourself a writer.

Bring a pen and prepare to be inspired.

Dreams have been an undervalued yet ever-present wellspring of inspiration and creativity for writers through the ages. Gover, a leading voice in the field of dreamwork, offers readers a unique method for accessing our naturally generous and creative dreaming mind.

"Dreams serve the writer, and when we write them down, we give new life to the dreams that have been living inside of us - eager to guide and inspire us - all along," Tzivia says.

"In my new book, I make these connections explicit and show readers what I have intuitively known for years: that dreams and writing are perfect bedfellows, and that by honoring both, we can live more fully connected and harmonious lives."

'Dreaming on the Page' also offers an effective outlet for anyone suffering from stress and anxiety to

Baystate doctor gives tips for beating the sun this summer

SPRINGFIELD - Dr. Richard Arenas, chief, surgical oncology, Baystate Regional Cancer Program has some tips to help prevent melanoma this summer.Which1 in 5 Americans will develop skin cancer by the age of 70.More than 2 people die of skin cancer in the U.S. every hour. Having 5 or more sunburns doubles your risk for melanoma, the third most common skin cancer which causes the most deaths.

Dr. Richard Arenas, chief, surgical oncology, Baystate Regional Cancer Program has some tips to help prevent melanoma this summer.

Dr. Arenas and the National Cancer Institute recommend these tips to protect your skin from sunlight, which can be reflected by sand, water, snow, ice and pavement:

Wear a hat with a wide brim all around that shades your face, neck, and ears. Baseball caps and some sun visors protect only parts of your skin.

Wear sunglasses that block UV radiation to protect the skin around your eyes.

Wear long sleeves and long pants. Tightly woven, dark fabrics are best. Some fabrics are rated with an ultraviolet protection factor. The higher the rating, the greater the protection from sunlight.

Use sunscreen products with a sun protection factor of at least 15. (Some doctors suggest using a product with an SPF of at least 30.) Apply the product's recommended amount to uncovered skin 30 minutes before going outside and apply again every two hours or after swimming or sweating.

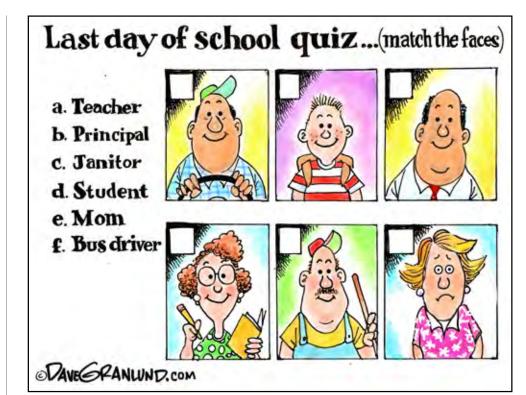

Dr. Arenas and The American Academy of Pediatrics recommend the following tips for infants and children:

Babies under 6 months of age should be kept out of direct sunlight. Move your baby to the shade under a tree, umbrella, or stroller canopy. Dress babies in lightweight clothing that covers the arms and legs and use brimmed hats that shade the neck to prevent sunburn. If adequate clothing and shade are not available, it is okay to apply a small amount of sunscreen on infants under 6 months, such as on the face and the back of the hands. Remember, it takes 30 minutes to be effective. If an infant gets sunburned, apply cool compresses to the affected area

Kids should also cover up with clothes made of tightly woven fabrics. Cotton clothing is both cool and protective. Also, kids should wear a wide-brimmed hat and sunglasses with ultraviolet protection. Stay in the shade whenever possible and avoid peak intensity hours between 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Apply sunscreen with an SPF 15 or greater to areas of your child's skin that aren't covered by clothing. Before applying, test the sunscreen on your child's back for an allergic reaction. Apply carefully around the eyes, avoiding eyelids. If a rash develops, talk with your pediatrician. Be sure to apply enough sunscreen --about one ounce per sitting for a young adult. Reapply sunscreen every two hours, or after swimming or sweating. If your child gets a sunburn that results in blistering, pain or fever, contact your pediatrician.

Do we really need to go through this?

There was finally some movement in Washington on raising the debt ceiling and a bill was passed by both chambers of Congress just days from a U.S. default – it would have been the first in the country's history.

If you're like me, you can't help but view this brinkmanship – with U.S. financial credibility and the economy on the line – with a mix of impatience and resignation.

Why impatience? Because its members seemed happy to waste valuable time they could be devoting to more productive work. In essence, this is a political game that's become a gridlock-inducing diversion.

And resignation? Because in the heated partisan atmosphere that's permeated Washington for the last few decades, a fight over raising the debt ceiling seems to have become part and parcel of the Congressional calendar. Waste of time that it is, you can pretty much set your clock by it.

And while the bill that cleared Congress last week means the debt ceiling won't be an issue again until early 2025, this drama could resume and an unprecedented default is still possible that year.

Let's take a step back for a moment and consider what's at stake if the U.S. has no choice but to start defaulting on some of its bills. It might, for instance, keep paying interest on debts, keeping the markets calmer, if not exactly tranquil. But that would probably mean not paying federal workers and contractors, Social Security recipients or veterans' health care benefits, which would be politically wrenching.

On the other hand, if the government misses even a single debt payment, it would ruin global confidence in U.S. debt, with consequences for our economy that would last for years.

You might ask how any of this could even be possible. There's a lot of misperception about why the debt needs to keep being raised, but it's pretty simple: Most years, we spend more than we take in. This has been a truly bipartisan endeavor. Of the presidencies over the last five decades, the debt grew most in percentage terms under Ronald Reagan, George W. Bush, and Barack Obama – though in dollar terms, it grew almost as much during Donald Trump's single term as it did during Obama's two terms.

There's no question that some of those increases came because of spending – most recently on the pandemic and keeping the economy afloat because of it. But it's worth noting that the primary reason Reagan, Bush and Trump figure as major debt contributors is because they pushed through huge tax cuts during their time in office.

Though the Reagan cuts were partially reversed under Bill Clinton, producing actual budget surpluses, the Bush and Trump cuts have made it virtually impossible for revenues to keep up with spending.

So in upcoming weeks, as Republicans and Democrats in Congress, along with the Biden White House, issue talking points aimed at making the other side look bad, remember that taking steps to avoid building up the U.S. debt requires looking at the full picture: tax and fiscal policy as well as spending. And as the rhetoric grows more heated, remember this, too: This doesn't have to happen.

Congress could just decide to get rid of a ceiling on the debt and choose instead to spend its time addressing the actual challenges the country faces, including budget deficits, rather than engaging in debt theater. There are too many players who relish wielding the debt-ceiling cudgel for such a move to be likely.

But it would be good for the country if it happened.

Community band concert coming to Mount Holyoke College

SOUTH HADLEY — As many as 150 musicians from throughout Western Massachusetts and beyond will come together for an outdoor performance in one giant concert band at 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 17, at the Mount Holyoke College Amphitheater.

The concert is free and open to the public to attend. In the event of inclement weather, the rain date is Sunday June 18.

Titled Pioneer Valley Community Band Festival, the concert is being hosted by the Amherst, Florence and South Hadley Community Bands and will bring together amateur and professional musicians of all ages and abilities from throughout the region to celebrate and perform live instrumental music.

According to Festival Coordinator Ira Brezinsky, "We have a goal of 150 musicians performing together. We'll see if we get there! With the inspiration of our guest conductor and guest soloist, band members will have the opportunity to share their musical skills, learn from their fellow musicians, and bring the joy of live music making to our audience."

Additional musicians of all abilities who would like to participate can email pioneervalleycommunitybandfest@ gmail.com.

Director of Music at Deerfield Academy, Thomas Bergeron, will lead the festival band in a day of joyous music-making. Before coming to Deerfield, Bergeron held teaching positions at Williams College, Tufts University, Bennington College, Yale, Amherst College and the Brimmer and May School. He is a member of the Atlantic Brass Quintet and the Principal Trumpet of the Springfield Symphony.

Bergeron has performed with The merican Symphony. The Temptations, T-Pain, Vampire Weekend, Idina Menzel, The Four Tops, Judy Collins, Arlo Guthrie, and numerous Broadway shows. His television appearances include Saturday Night Live, Jimmy Kimmel Live, and "CBS This Morning." He spent two years in residence at Carnegie Hall with Juilliard's Ensemble Connect and holds two advanced degrees from Yale, where he won the Woolsey Hall Concerto Competition and received the John Swallow Award for excellence in brass playing.

"It's really exciting to have so many people of all ages gathering to experience the joy of making music together," Bergeron said.

We've programmed a wide variety of music, from Sousa to Duke Ellington, Billie Eilish and Ray Charles. Personal highlights for me include music from 'Captain Marvel' by the Emmy-nom-

Saxophonist Ronald Smith will be the featured guest soloist. A native of Memphis, Tennessee, Smith is the director of Music Programs at the Northfield Mount Hermon School. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Music from Tennessee State University, along with degrees in Music Production & Engineering Studies from Berklee College of Music and Ethnomusicology Studies from Dartmouth College

He was a semifinalist for Grammy Award Teacher of the Year and a John Pflug Teaching Fellow. Smith, who lives in Northampton, has performed with such artists as Miles Davis, Dizzy Gillespie, Ray Brown, Billy Taylor, Nat Adderley, Wynton Marsalis, B.B. King, Paul Winter, Samirah Evans and Evelyn Harris, to name a few.

Priscilla Ross, director of the Florence Community Band, stated, "Our band members always enjoy playing under the baton of other conductors. And many of us remember when Tom (Bergeron) was up and coming, playing with us! So it will be a joy to reunite under his leadership."

The free concert is made possible thanks to grants from the South Hadley and Amherst Cultural Councils, a Festivals Grant from the Massachusetts Cultural Council, and a sponsorship by the South Hadley Electric Light Department (SHELD/Fiberspring).

Obituary

Caitlin C. Sullivan, 35

BELCHERTOWN - Caitlin C. "Cat" Sullivan, 35, passed away suddenly on May 30, 2023, with her family by her side.

She was born on June 6, 1987 in Holyoke, the daughter of Donna (Anyon) Kustra and the late Francis X. Sullivan Jr.

Cat graduated from Belchertown High School in 2006 and previously worked as a driver for Hulmes Transportation Ser-

Cat was a very talented photographer and had a great appreciation for art. She also enjoyed watching and quoting movies, family "game nights," going on car rides, and spending time with her family and pets, whom she loved dearly.

Cat was preceded in death by her father, Francis X. Sullivan Jr., in 2003; maternal grandparents, Barbara and Bill Anyon; and paternal grandparents, Francis X. Sr. and Kathleen Sullivan.

She will be greatly missed by her fiance, Jeff Conchieri; mother, Donna (Anyon) Kustra and husband, Tom; sister, Erin Marchese and husband, Aldo: sister, Gabrielle Dejoinville and husband, Stephen; brother, Brendan Sullivan; as well as numerous aunts and uncles, several nieces, nephews, and extended family and friends.

The family wishes to thank MICU Nurses Lizzy, Haley, and Cari, at Baystate Medical Center, for the compassionate care that was provided to Cat.

A period of visitation was held at the Beers & Story Belchertown Funeral Home on Monday, June 5, 2023 from 10:00am-12:00pm with closing prayers shared at 12:00pm. Burial will be held at the family's discretion. In lieu of flowers, please consider donating to your local Animal Rescue Shelter in memory of Cat's love for animals. Please visit www.beersandstory.com to extend online condolences.

formed by South Hadley High School's Vocal Roar and directed by Beth Aya Curtis.

Wood's own address pivoted on the word "resiliency" because the Class of 2023 had endured some of the most challenging years ever faced in the educational system. They had been sent home twice, first by a global pandemic, and then by a massive mold infestation just as school was reopening in-person after the long hiatus of the Covid pandemic.

"We truly appreciate what you have done – for yourselves, your fellow students, and the town of South Hadley." She asked also that everyone present observe a few moments of silence in honor of those who could not be present although they had helped make this day possible.

Wood also acknowledged the presence of members of the community who had served or were currently serving in the military. "Your efforts in serving and protecting our nation are admirable and appreciated," she said, and then called out the names of the various armed forces and asked those serving in each one to rise and be recognized.

This segued into her acknowledgement of those "honorable seniors that have decided to join our armed forces." She called out the names of four who would soon enter the Air Force, Air Force Reserves, and the Army National Guard.

Then she acknowledged one of the fallen: Class of 2023, Riley Roman, who died last year. He had once said, "My hope is everything," a phrase that Wood continued to cherish.

As Principal, Wood proudly announced that 19 members of the Class of 2023 were graduating as members of the National Honor Society, and that the graduating class also had eight Pro Merito students. There were 13 Student Council leaders, 23 graduating with Career Technical Education Certificates, one STEM diploma awardee, and five who had achieved the Seal of Biliteracy.

There were an astonishing number of awards to be given. A total of eleven were bestowed upon the school from grateful alumni as early as 1922, and 46 scholarships came from many types of organizations and individual philanthropists.

National Honor Society President and Salutatorian Emma Currier assumed the podium to address "proud parents" and offer thanks to her various pillars of support – parents, brother, her cats and ultimately the whole school community.

She spoke of growth and self-discovery and the extraordinary distance traveled from the beginning of high school "when all we wanted was to get out, and the most significant moments to us were those when the bell was about to ring." Gradually, significant moments accumulated: games won, brilliant performances and shows produced.

Time will be measured years from now, she assured her peers, not in semesters or years but in friendships made. Her advice was that life can be heavy and should not be lived on one's own or carried all at once. "Know what moments to keep and let go."

In some, decide what moments are worth holding; be selective, let go of regrets and resentments from the past. Practice forgiveness and acceptance.

Finally, "Create a space to live in the present." She assured her peers that it was possible to find one's enthusiasm for things although it may lead outside of a comfort zone. Reflect on past experiences and learn from them. She concluded, "It is in the present moment that the magic of life unfolds."

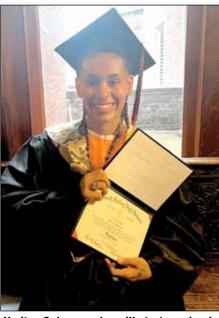

Class Valedictorian Moira Dolittle commenced her address by offering thanks, not just for high school, but for the past 13 years, or her entire education. At this commencement evening alone, Dolittle received four of the eleven awards presented at the ceremony, and six of the 46 scholarships.

The one with the most detailed introduction, the Andy Yee Memorial Award, specified that the recipient be someone who "motivated and inspired peers to make the community better." Dolittle offered some insight into her drive vis-à-vis an anecdote dating back to the eighth grade.

Community Newspaper EDITOR WANTED

Turley Publications is looking for a "hands on" energetic candidate who loves telling stories to be the editor for two weekly publications. This position will include managing and coaching a small news staff that will provide the community with a great local newspaper.

The editor will need to cover local government and events while representing the newspaper at public venues.

The successful candidate will have strong community journalism skills and is also expected to gather news and write stories for the two papers as well as for other occasional companywide publications.

This is a job for a self-starter who has a vision for growing and connecting with our valued readers, and who thoroughly enjoys community journalism.

This full-time position with flexible schedule is based in our Palmer office at 24 Water St., this is not a remote position.

Qualifications should include:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience
- Willingness to mentor a staff writer and correspondents
- Editing experience and ability to write clean copy in a fast-paced, deadline-driven environment
- Proficiency in Associated Press style
- Management experience and/or experience managing content for a print publication.

Please send resume and writing examples to:

Eileen Kennedy, Executive Editor 24 Water St., Palmer, MA 01069 or email directly to ekennedy@turley.com

JOB OPENING

STAFF WRITER

Turley Publications, based in Palmer, is seeking a storyteller who is curious about everything, and who understands how town government works to join our team of weekly reporters.

Experience in covering town government is a huge plus, and any experience in community journalism is as well. Staff writers cover all aspects of communities from features to municipal meetings to crimes and fires. Successful candidates must have people skills, plenty of curiosity and able to tell a story.

If you're a self-starter who enjoys community journalism and who can envision themselves connecting with our communities, we encourage you to apply for this position. Not a remote position.

Qualifications should include:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience
- A determination to get the story, whatever it might be
- Equally comfortable writing hard news, features and event coverage
- Ability to write clean copy in a fast-paced, deadline-driven environment
- Proficiency in Associated Press style

Please tell us in a cover letter why you would be a good fit for this position and send it along with a resume and three writing samples to

One day her classmates were talking about a Snapchat that said simply, "I hate the Class of 2023. They are going to be South Hadley's downfall." The young and impressionable Dolittle was appalled, intimidated and wondered if there actually was something amiss with the Class of 2023. The insult became a challenge.

She set out on a campaign of excellence in everything, haunted by the horror of that accusation because South Hadley did have a proud heritage. It had produced Ivy Leaguers, community leaders, and innovators.

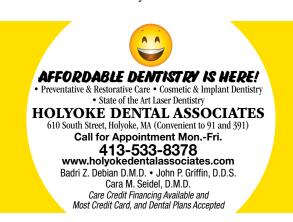

She and her peers joined every sport, ran for Student Council and made their voices heard, attended spirit weeks, open mic nights and made themselves indispensible at pep rallies. They even went out into the communities volunteering at the food pantry regularly. Dolittle co-directed a play that won the 2019 One Act Festival.

But their freshman year was abruptly interrupted by the COVID-19 pandemic. The two weeks initially out of school turned into one month, and then an indefinite period of time. Just as they were ready to return to school, a massive mold infestation was discovered at the school that required remediation.

Back home they reverted to 6-hour Zoom days. They did not return to in-person instruction until late September of 2021. Even then, it was a masked return with a 6-foot social-distance rule.

Still, they were not going to be the downfall of South Hadley. When they finally got back to school Dolittle's classmates threw themselves into everything.

They sent people to nationals for track. Their concert music programs entered state competitions. At this point they were no longer just volunteers in the community but began to create their own service projects as members of the National Honor Society.

Society President, Emma Currier, "I have been delivers her address to her fellow amazed at the talent, graduates, family, and friends. the resilience, and the heart of my peers," Dolittle said, and thanked everyone for teaching her the "true meaning of excellence."

Esther Ngure, Student Council Co-President echoed the theme of the evening, that the Class of 2023 had endured many setbacks but had somehow triumphed. She reaffirmed the notion of resilience.

Salutatorian and National Honor

She expressed her pride that hey had adjusted and adapted to unprecedented times - dealing with the pandemic, the mold infestation, and online learning. Above all, they did this as a community.

Of her high school journey, Ngure said, "We came and we conquered." But the crux of her message was about leadership.

She quoted the author and pastor John C. Maxwell, who wrote that a leader is someone who "knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way." Ngure claimed that every graduate there was a leader in some way.

She also quoted Michelle Obama's words about honesty and integrity, "Integrity is about doing the right thing when no one is looking...Success doesn't come unless you earn it fair and square."

Lastly, she quoted Nelson Mandela who famously said that the most important thing is to be honest with oneself because you can't change society if you have not changed yourself.

Happy to be graduating and waiting to flip the tassel.

'Be ready for change," said Ngure, "We will no longer be walking into the South Hadley High School doors as students anymore." She then led the tassel turning, signifying the transition to a new stage of life

In closing, she said, "Changing the world we will do."

LUDLOW—Joao Bernardo has been the public address announcer at historic Lusitano Stadium in Ludlow for many years.

Sports Correspondent

While Bernardo announced his normal messages to the crowd during last Saturday night's USL League Two matchup between the Black Rock FC and the Western Mass. Pioneers, he didn't make his famous goal call. The contest, which was played on a fall like evening, ended in a scoreless draw.

"We had 22 shots on goal in tonight's match, but we couldn't put any of them into the net," said Pioneers head coach Federico Molinari. "We always want to win every game that we play, especially at home."

It has been more than seven years since the Pioneers (3-0-2) played a 0-0 match at Lusitano Stadium. They have played three scoreless road draws since 2018. The last one was two years ago against Black Rock FC, who currently play their home matches at Colby-Sawyer College in New London, New Hampshire.

During the past several years, Black Rock has played home matches at MCLA in North Adams and at Applejack Stadium in Manchester Center, Vermont.

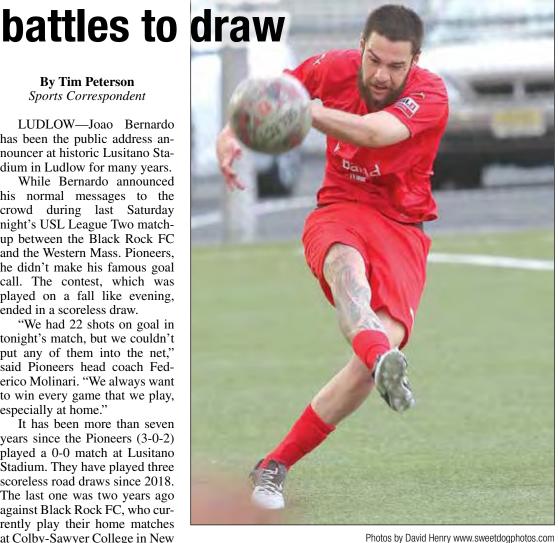

The Pioneers outscored their first four opponents, 17-2. They scored ten of those goals in a 10-1 road victory against Boston City FC on May 30.

"We weren't really tested in our last game," said Pioneers starting defender Conor Hicks, who's from Monson. "We hit the post or crossbar at least four or five times in tonight's game. The ball just didn't bounce our way and it's a very tough result. We still haven't lost a match yet so far this season.

Hicks, who's one of the Pioneers veteran players, missed the season opening road match against the Boston Bolts, which was a 3-0 win, with an injury. He played the final 45 minutes in the home opener versus Pathfinder FC, which was also a 3-0 victory, before starting the past three matches.

Western Mass. first-year goalie Gianluca Cersosimo only had to make two saves against Black Rock to record his third shutout of the season.

Matthew Kimball took the win last Saturday at Monadnock

Kimball wins inaugural Winchester Open 100

WINCHESTER, N.H. -Saturday night's inaugural Winchester Open 100 might have been a new experience for fans and racers alike, but it ended with a familiar face in victory lane.

Speedway Monadnock graduate Matthew Kimball put his home-track expertise to work, besting a 24-car field to win the first-ever JDV Open Modified feature at the Winchester, N.H. bullring.

Kimball held off Carl Medeiros Jr. and Ryan Doucette to score one of the biggest wins of his Modified career thus far.

Inclement weather delayed the start of Saturday's main event, but did nothing to dampen the enthusiasm of Kimball, who raced Mini Stocks at "Mad Dog" before making a career shift to Tour-type Modifieds. The Bennington, N.H. racer started from the pole, yielding to Monadnock veteran Todd Patnode on lap eight of the 100-circuit feature. Chris Pasteryak settled into third with Kirk Alexander fourth when a turn-three spin brought out the night's first caution.

Patnode immediately ducked down pit road, handing the lead back to Kimball. Alexander and Sam Rameau charged into third on the restart, while Pasteryak's hopes for a solid finish turned bleak when contact left the Connecticut racer sideways in turn two with 60 laps to go.

Rameau, who started 22nd, pounced on Kimball two restarts later to take the lead. Rameau set a fast pace, but Kimball was able to keep up, turning up the heat as slower traffic came into play. Early contender Alexander went for a backstretch spin with 17 laps left, though, eliminating the lapped-traffic wildcard and pitting Rameau against Kimball for the restart.

On the green flag, Rameau cleared Kimball for the lead, but Kimball loomed large in his mirror, tracing the curbs and keeping Rameau from building an advantage. With 11 laps left, Kimball dove inside on the backstretch, getting alongside Rameau in the turns and taking the lead back. Ryan Doucette threw his car to Rameau's inside to steal second, upsetting Rameau and letting Kimball escape. Another bobble from Rameau slowed the field, with Medeiros charging from the high line to take second as the top five shuffled.

Kimball was hardly home free, as another spin with six laps left forced a late-race restart. But the youngster got the jump on Medeiros coming to the green, and as Doucette made a bid for second, Kimball was able to get away once again, coasting home to one of his biggest Modified wins yet and pocketing $5,000 for the evening.

Medeiros held on for a strong second-place finish, with Doucette third at the line. Richard Savary drove back from a late pit stop to finish fourth, while Pasteryak salvaged a fifth-place finish.

Leading into the Winchester Open 100, Tom Harwood won his second straight New England Dwarf Car Series feature only a week after capturing the checkers at Lee USA Speedway. Adrian Smith won the Young Guns feature, while Robert Hagar topped the NHS-TRA Late Models feature and

During the 24th minute, Hughes, who's a first year Western Mass. player, blasted a shot that was saved by Black Rock goalie Pablo Costa (22 saves), who's from Brazil.

"Their goalie played fantastic," Molinari said. "He kept his team in the game.'

About five minutes later, Pioneers captain Nicholas Oberrauch, who celebrated his 24th birthday on Monday, fired a laser shot, which Costa deflected over the endline resulting in a corner kick.

With a little more than ten minutes remaining in the opening half, Black Rock's Jaland Laramond had a wide open shot attempt, but the ball was cleared away by Connor Bagdon before crossing the line. The trio of Khalid Rose, Laurie Goddard, and Augustine Boadi had shots on goals for the Pioneers in the first

The Pioneers had several more scoring opportunities during the second half, but they couldn't put the ball into the net past Costa.

There was seven minutes of stoppage time, but the contest was still scoreless when referee Fabio Cardoso blew his whistle for the final time.

qualified for the postseason tournament one time," said first-year head coach Danielle Miele who graduated from South Hadley High School in 2015. "Winning the Western Mass. title in my first season as the head coach is just an amazing accomplishment. We played very well as a team in today's match."

When Miele, who was a threesport athlete in high school, was a sophomore the Lady Tigers lacrosse team defeated Lee High School in the Western Mass. Division 1 quarterfinals. They then lost to powerhouse Longmeadow in the semifinals.

South Hadley (13 -5) advanced into the 2023 Western Mass. championship match after squeaking out an 11-8 home win against third-seeded Amherst in the semifinals.

The only senior listed on the South Hadley roster is Audissey Hill, who's one of the captains.

The three junior captains are Madelyn McArdle, Emily Piligian, and Evelyn Gingras, who's the starting goalie.

Belchertown (7-10) was also looking to capture the Western Mass. title for the first time under first-year head coach Jarrod

The Lady Orioles advanced into the championship match after upsetting top-seeded Northampton, 18-15, in the semifinals.

"Nobody even expected us to even be playing in the Western Mass. finals this year," Lemke said. "We only won four games a year ago. We also lost a bunch of players to graduation. We upset the top-seeded team to get here. It gave us a lot more confidence coming into this game."

The Lady Orioles seniors are Grace Filippelli, Lauran Cooper, Michelle Zaluga, Sam Pacunas, and Adrien Wise.

South Hadley built a 3-0 lead seven minutes into the opening half following goals from sophomores Margaret Watkins, and Ava Asselin, along with McArdle.

"Everyone made a key contribution in today's game, which really helped us a lot," said Asselin, who recorded a hat-trick in the Western Mass. finals. "We became very close during the course of the regular season. It has been a lot of fun playing for this team."

Asselin scored her first goal of the match on a behind the back

"I normally don't score very many goals with a behind the back shot," she said. "It felt really good after I scored that goal."

The Lady Orioles got on the scoreboard for the first time with 17:34 remaining in the first half following an unassisted goal from Wise.

Those goals were scored by junior Rachel Yabra, sophomore Jordyn Balint, junior Mia Beaulieu, junior Eliana Britton, Piligian, and Asselin.

We played very well in today's game, especially during the first half," said Gingras, who was credited with nine saves. "It feels amazing to win the Western Mass. title. I couldn't even imagine doing this last year. The new coaches have really helped us a Less than two minutes into the second half, Asselin scored her third goal of the match, which gave South Hadley an 11-2 lead.

With a little more than eleven minutes remaining in regulation, Watkins netted her second goal of the game pushing the Lady Tigers advantage to 13-2.

The Lady Orioles scored the final three goals of the contest. Two of those goals were scored by junior Madysen LePage. Wise scored the other goal.

Both teams also qualified for the Division 4 state tournament.

Museum's folk music concert series continues

HADLEY — The Wednesday Folk Traditions concert series at The Porter-Phelps-Huntington Museum at 130 River Drive (Route 47) continues its 42nd season at 6:30 p.m. on June 21 with ReBelle.

"Conceived in love, rebellion and the musical vigor of collaborators Manou Africa and Kalpana Devi, ReBelle demonstrates musicianship and vocals that are contemporary, vital and spell-binding," a news release states.

The concert will be held on the museum grounds. Admission is $12 for those 17 and older and $2 for those 16 and younger. Payment is cash only. Picnickers are welcome on the museum's grounds starting at 5 p.m. In the event of rain, performances will be held at Wesley United Methodist Church in Hadley.

According to the release, ReBelle "was founded by collaborators Kalpana Devi and Manou Africa, who are musicians, composers, activists, parents and upholders of love and justice." ReBelle performs eloquent compositions of pulsing rhythms and multi-instrumental arrangements combining Rasta, soul, folk, and poetic insurgence elements.

Wednesday Folk Traditions continues on June 28 with The Pangeans, a seven-member world musical ensemble performing original compositions based on traditional rhythms from around the Wednesday Folk Traditions is funded, in part, by grants from: the Marion I. And Otto C. Kohler Memorial Fund at the Community Foundation of Western Massachusetts: Mass Cultural Council, a state agency, through its Festivals and Programs Grants; the Amherst and Hadley Cultural Councils, local agencies funded by Massachusetts Cultural Council; Robinson and Cole; Easthampton Savings Bank; Gage-Wiley and Company, and with support from many local businesses.

The museum and its grounds are a smoke-free site. For more information, call 413-584-4699 or go to pphmuseum.

Sen. State Oliveira first speech

BOSTON — Last week, state Sen. Jake Oliveira delivered his first speech to the Massachusetts State Senate, eliciting a standing ovation from the Senate President and his colleagues in the General Court.

In his speech, after thanking the Senate President and those on the Senate Ways and Means Committee, Oliveira (D-Hampden, Hampshire and Worcester) thanked his peers for their hard work "assembling a budget that will serve Massachusetts as equitably, inclusively, and as far-reaching as possible," a press release states.

Oliveira also took the opportunity to advocate for an increase in state spending for public libraries through an amendment he sponsored. It seeks to increase funding and provide an additional $750,000 for regional public libraries.

Oliveira said the funds would ensure that public libraries have the resources they need to protect themselves and their collections and services from the current culture war being waged against free thought and free speech across the country.

Oliveira cited data from the American Library Association and the Pew Center for Research, which tracked thousands of challenges and bans to books across and LGBTO+ individuals. Oliveira described libraries and librarians as being "on the front line in the fight to protect diversity, inclusion, and accessibility.'

He also spoke on the various public library services provided to residents across Massachusetts that would be protected by the increased spending and talked about the public libraries in his district and the many services they provide to residents, like English language courses, job training, and legal help. Oliveira also described how libraries address the disparity in high-speed broadband access for lower-income families and provide equity to those families.

(Public Libraries) are cultivators of equity and inclusion, they are the last true community centers that we have, and they are open to all," Oliveira said, as he stressed how the funding increase would promote more resource sharing and provide access for the smaller libraries in Western Massachusetts that were particularly impacted by the pandemic.

Oliveira finished his speech by calling public libraries the "heart of America" and implored his colleagues in the Senate to protect equity, inclusion, accessibility, people of color, immigrants, and LGBTQ+ individuals by protecting public libraries.

CAMPUS NOTES

Iowa State University

Kaitlin Regina Kotfila of Hadley, a senior Veterinary Medicine major at Iowa State University, was named to the Dean's List for the spring 2023 semester.

Students named to the Dean's List must have earned a grade-point average of at least 3.50 on a 4.00 scale while carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours of graded course work.

Stonehill College

The following local students were among nearly 1,000 students named to the Spring 2023 Dean's List at Stonehill College: Mia Kelly of South Hadley, Sarah Fitts of South Hadley and Paige Marjanski of South Hadley.

To qualify for the Dean's List, students must have a semester grade-point average of 3.50 or better and must have successfully completed all courses for which they were registered.
